

For immediate release

FRIENDS OF SIMON WIESENTHAL CENTER FOR HOLOCAUST STUDIES ALARMED BY ANTISEMITIC SCREED POSTED ON INDO-CANADIAN ONLINE PAPER

Toronto- January 10, 2012: Friends of Simon Wiesenthal Center for Holocaust Studies (FSWC) deplores the overtly antisemitic diatribe by Dr. Sawraj Singh posted in The Link, A Vancouver based online paper which labels itself as a "Leading Indo Canadian Newspaper," and requests a full retraction of the article and an apology to the Jewish community of Vancouver and Canada.

"Titled 'Racism, Capitalism and Zionism are the worst cancers affecting the world', this article- which likens Jews to cancer, is one of the most blatant examples of pure antisemitic hatred I have seen published in Canada; it certainly would fit right in on a neo-Nazi website and I question the judgment and bias of the editors who posted it," said Avi Benlolo, President and CEO of FSWC. "With statements including, 'The Jews were and still are able to monopolize most of the academic and intellectually demanding positions. It is very interesting to compare the percentage of Jews amongst doctors, attorneys, university professors, and scientists in America to any European country, and even to Canada,' this article should be immediately pulled from the website. Hate is not a Canadian value," he added.

Media Contact

Stacey Starkman
Communications Manager
416.864.9735 x 32 – office
416.524.3287 – cell